BOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. E. Boagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used
It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have taken it to the Exhibition to use this new invention ourselves and recommend it to the trade in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO DECEMBER 3.

Sale of Government Property.

WILMINGTON, Dec. 1.—The sale of government property at Harper's Ferry on Wednesday, aggregated $250,000, and still there is a quantity of valuable property left.

Richardson's Funeral.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Richardson's remains will be taken to Medway, Massachusetts, for interment. The Coroner received the body this afternoon and will hold an inquest on Monday.

The Red River Rebellion.

OTTAWA, ONTARIO, Dec. 2.—Cash Fimmisinger, of Montreal, has been summoned here to undertake a special mission to Red River, to endeavor to consolidate the half breeds and Indians. The question is attracting much attention. The telegraph between Fort William and Red River are reported unfriendly.

Miscellaneous.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 2.—General Rosecrans and several army officers have arrived here from California.

LEAVENWORTH, Dec. 2.—The Bulletin says gold has been discovered on the Delaware bend, fifteen miles from Leavenworth. Californians think good wages can be made and several of them who prospected some days since, obtained considerable dust.

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 2.—A fire last night in the Commercial Elevator damaged the building, machinery and contents, including 50,000 or 60,000 bushels of grain, by fire and water, to the amount of $30,000 or $40,000.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

PARIS, Dec. 2.—France and Great Britain are making efforts to settle the troubles between the Sublime Porte and the Viceroy of Egypt.

The balloon in the Bank of France has decreased 1,300,000 francs in the past week.

GENOA, Dec. 2.—The American ship Spartacus from New Orleans, on the 21st August, for this port, arrived safely yesterday. She had been given up as lost by the underwriters.

HERLIN, Dec. 2.—It is rumored that the Danish question is again in discussion. Several important dispatches on the subject recently passed between Berlin and Vienna.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—Ah Poy, a prominent Chinese merchant of this city, died three days since, and to-day he was buried with Chinese funeral ceremonies.

The Colorado sailed for Panama at noon to-day with 300 passengers, $411,000 in treasure and merchandise to the value of $94,000.

The bark Kutusoff, with coal for the Bellingham Bay Company, is supposed to be lost. She left Bellingham Bay on the 4th November for San Francisco, since which time she has not been heard from. The disasters to the California fleet during the past few weeks have been unusually heavy.

The steamer Newbern will sail for Alaska ports on Sunday at noon. She will carry a letter mail.

A telegram from New York to day states that the steamer D. C. Haskin, on route for San Francisco, foundered November 17th, in the gulf stream. The Captain and eight men were saved; three drowned. This steamer was intended for the California Pacific Railroad, to run between this city and Vallejo.

Mining Stocks.

Mining stocks this morning were in moderate demand and prices easy to buyers. Evening sales—O. B. T. 104; S. Nevada 92. Savage 89½; H. & N. 109; Chollar 22½; Kentuck 15½; Point 13½; Ophir 18½; Occidental 14½; Alpha 12½, Ophir 12½; Belcher 16; Overman 88; Jacket 4@1.

Markets.

Flour—Rates for superfine are a little stiff. Leading local brands ranging from $4 12½ to $4 50, while outside brands are obtained at $4@4 25. No change in price of bakers' extra. Sales not before reported embrace 16,000 sks Genesee superfine for export at $4; 2,000 qr sks Genesee bakers' extra at $5 37½; 2,000 bf sks Gold Street XXX at $5 25, 4,000 qr sks Stockton City superfine for Ohius and 300 bbls do extra and 20,000 qr sks Golden Age superfine private.

Wheat—There is an improved demand both for superfine and choice grades, while the continuances of pleasant weather renders holders less disposed to sell. We quote inferior to choice coast at $1 15 @1 85; fair to good Bay milling $1 25@1 40; good to choice at $1 40@1 55. Sales include 800 sks fair milling at $1 25; 600 sks good do $1 37½; 1,500 sks good coast $1 50; 110 sks poor do $1 20; 678 sks choice coast $1 32½; 500 sks good Bay $1 40; 1,000 sks fair do $1 35; 2,000 sks choice shipping $1 05.

Shipping.

Arrived—Dec. 3d, ship Gold Hunter 167 days from Boston.

Sailed Dec. 3d, British Ship Nature's Hope, Barrard Inlet; American bark Glimpse, Victoria.

NEVADA

TREASURE CITY, Dec. 3.—We are having pleasant weather. The streets are alive with teams hauling to the different mills. The Stanford mill made another clean up, shipping to-night by Wells, Fargo & Co., through the agency of the Bank of California, consigned to J. Seligman & Co., San Francisco, seven bars bullion, valued at $11,021 58, being about one half of the amount obtained. They ship the balance to-morrow, the product of about 450 tons ore worked from the South Aurora. This mine is producing large quantities of ore. Contracts have been made by the mine with two mills to crush three thousand tons at $20 per ton, independent of the six thousand ton contract with the Stanford mill.

Wells, Fargo & Co. shipped yesterday for the Eberhardt Milling and Mining Company to Seligman & Co., New York, six bars bullion, valued at $8,000.

Van Wyck & Co., assayers, turned out yesterday ten beautiful silver bars, valued at $12,000, for the Original Hidden Treasure Company, under the superintendency of Jos. Turner. This mine is yielding handsomely, having during the month of November, shipped bullion to the amount of $23,000.

The examination of Bigelow, Dawes and Morrison, charged with the robbery of bullion from the Stanford mill, was concluded before Justice Hobson yesterday. Bigelow alone was held to await the action of the grand jury, there being no evidence against the others to warrant a committal.

FROM THE NORTH

VICTORIA, Dec. 3.—On Saturday night an Indian came to the city from Beechy Bay and informed the Inspector of Police that a man named A. M. Campbell had been murdered by an Indian on Thursday at his farm on Beechy Bay. The police at once proceeded to the place in company with the Indian who gave the information. Two Indians were arrested who were supposed to have been concerned in the murder. The police, with the Indians arrested, proceeded to the house of deceased and found everything as the Indian had represented. Campbell was shot in three places in the forehead, and two bullet holes in his side. One of the Indians arrested says that Campbell lifted his gun to fire at him, when he caught it and the gun was accidentally discharged, killing Campbell. The murdered man came to the colony in 1862, and went to the mines, came back in about a year. He then took a farm at Beechy Bay where he has since lived alone. His nearest neighbor was ten miles. He was a man of temperate habits, a native of Nova Scotia, and was much respected by all who knew him.

A short time ago a close fisted farmer on the Sandy river, in Maine, died, after devising $1 to his only son. The old gentleman was duly buried in the venerable oldfashioned, which suffered a terrible washing away by the late floods, and a short time ago his body was found opposite the son's place, having been brought down the river a long distance. When the tender-hearted son was informed of the fact, he made the touching remark: "Probably come back after that dollar?"

Clerk Life in Washington

The vacant, aimless faces one meets at corners in Washington are positively distressing. The whole city, when the crowds have gone away with the Congressional pageant, has a lonely, rickety aspect. There is the large army of place-hunters, consisting of those miserable clerks, who struggle to support a wife and six or eight children on twelve hundred dollars a year in Washington where the cost of living is almost as great as it is in New York. But when as is too many cases the clerk himself is a drunkard, the miseries of the family are too appalling to be dwelt upon. I saw one pretty fellow with a shabby, attenuated face, who having begged and borrowed money of his friends to appear in upon the day they were forced and refused him, stood in a most humiliating attitude at the door of my boarding house, with a Baltimore ham under his arm. It had been sent to his wife by some commiserating friend, and he had borne it away rather than be thrown on sale for money to apply to the same fatal place where his salary was pledged months before it was due.

I know of another clerk who has been in Washington years in one of the Departments, and who could scarcely remember when he had not sold his monthly pay in advance, at a discount to meet the necessities. Thus in the month of March he could get no money till he had disposed of his salary for April, and the poor old fellow never hoped to get so far ahead again as to save the discount he was forced to lose every month. You are reading every few days of the removal of clerks at Washington. To all young men in the Departments such an event should be a blessing; but I remember nothing more heartrending than the plight of one poor fellow I saw who, after serving a Department for eighteen years, was turned out penniless into the world with a family dependent upon him. The old clerks become as thoroughly enervated and worthless by their long service as do the "be mossed heads" of the German Universities—those students who hang about an academic city for years and years, drinking beer, fighting duels, and doing everything else but attending lectures, passing examination, or taking degrees. I met one venerable old fellow at Washington who had been a clerk through nodal years of public strife, from the times of Clay and Webster to these latter days of impeachment living always within twenty minutes' walk of the two chambers where the giants were met to debate, of where the lilliputs, even, were making history, this venerable old fellow had never had energy in all his life to visit the Capitol but twice.—Overland Monthly.

A Sensible Girl.

Some writer, to us unknown, tells this story of her:

Twenty years ago a young man who had paid attention to a bright, sweet girl, for a long time without making anything that was even a second cousin to a proposal, was startled one evening by the question, "Robert, do you want to marry me?" He tried to evade the point by asking why she put such a questionable "Because, if you do not want to marry me you must stop coming to see me. No mocking bird around the red-breast's nest, you know." Robert took the hint, and with a cool good night, walked home. What should he care for a girl so rude as that? Good company as hers elsewhere. He would join the clubs next day. He tried to sleep but couldn't. He didn't quite like the turn things had taken. The figure plagued him. If he was a mocking bird, who was the red breast; that he was keeping away from such a fitting partner? "At any rate one thing is certain, Edna is smart and she is pretty," he said to himself, "and she means business." The next morning Robert went to the counting room. It was a long day. Business had dragged. Everybody was pre occupied, hurried, cross. He was glad to go home, only it wasn't home. He took a book, but found himself trying to read the ovals in the grain and figures on the wallpaper of the page. He threw himself on the lounge, but it was dreadfully dull. He stood it for a while, and then put on his hat and walked down to the Widow Craigie's. He stepped up to the door as usual, but Edna was engaged. He asked to have her called. It seemed a month before she came down. At last she appeared. He arose from his seat and met her in the middle of the room, and said, "Edna, I have come here to night on business. I am tired of being your mocking bird, and want to be your red breast, will you be my wife?" "When do you say?" said Edna, her face suffused with blushes. "Soon as I can make a nest," Robert, replied. "I believe both the red-breasts join in building the nest," said Edna, "and I want to do my part." This was twenty years ago. To day one of the handsomest mansions in one of our cities is the seat of a noble family, whose life has been as sweet as a bird's song, and whose hearts, like their affections, are as young as ever. There is a great deal more in putting a little straightforward business at the beginning of life than is generally supposed.

The Five Cent Cheat

[From the San Francisco Bulletin.]

The press of California is generally exclaiming against the five-cent cheat, and declaring it should be stopped. The subject is of more importance than it seemed first sight, for it involves the principle of honest dealing, while the aggregate of the small shaves in making change is a great loss to buyers. Many traders in San Francisco have for some time been scrupulously honorable in this matter, but others have either neglected to provide themselves with small change, or have studied to be without it for the sake of albert gain. An agitation has begun which will not end until the abuse is reformed.

A few years since a great outcry was raised in San Francisco, the city was convulsed and the Legislature stormed, because an effort was made by the street railroad companies to raise their fares for an amount less than the half dime which is habitually taken from our people by the shop keepers. In New Orleans, some 25 years ago, the feeling against the imposition of short change, nothing being sold for less than a bit, became so strong that a daily newspaper was established to advocate the introduction of smaller coin, and continued immediate popularity under the suggestive name of the Picayune. The paper still lives, a successful institution and a curious monument of a successful raid upon a small imposition.

These facts show that metropolitan communities will not always submit even to petty exactions. We admonish all concerned to keep a supply of half-dimes on hand. If there are not enough coined the mint will coin more, and the silver for that purpose is coming daily from our own mines. The stores and shops that would be popular hereafter must not call it cents a bit, nor cancel a bit for a half-dime.

BLANCO WHITE'S SONNET.—Archbishop Trench, in a recent lecture, quoted the sweet, pastoral sonnet on Night and Death by the Spanish author, Joseph Blanco White, who died at Liverpool in 1841. It is not a little remarkable, he said, that one to whom English was an acquired language, who can have little or no experience in the mechanism of English verse, should yet have left us what Coleridge does not scruple to call the finest and most grandly conceived sonnet in our language." Coleridge, it is true, slightly modifies these words by adding, "At least it is only in Milton and in Words worth that I remember my rival." The grand thought of it, as you will perceive, in this Night, which at first threatens to hide all things from view, is in fact records to us the illimitable starry worlds of which, and of the existence of which, except for it, we should not have had the slightest suspicion. What of death, which in like manner threatens to hide so much, shall no deed reveal far more than it hides?

"Mysterious Night! when our first parent knew
Thee from report divine, and heard thy name,
Did he not tremble for this lovely frame
This glorious canopy of light and blue?
Yet 'neath a curtain of translucent dew,
Bathed in the rays of the great setting flame,
Hesperus with the host of heaven came,
And lo! Creation widened in man's view.
Who would have thought such darkness lay concealed,
Within thy beams, O Sun! or who could find,
Whilst fly and leaf, and insect stood revealed,
That to such countless orbs thou mad'st us blind?
Why do we then shun Death with anxious strife?
If Light can thus deceive, wherefore not Life?"

The Late Robert J. Walker.

HIS CAREER IN KANSAS

CORRESPONDENT R. J. Hinton, who is now the able Washington correspondent of the Syracuse Journal, gives to that paper some interesting reminiscences of the times when the late Robert J. Walker was Governor of Kansas and when the Colonel was an active "Free Stater" too. We quote

When Governor Robert J. Walker was sent to Kansas by Buchanan I had the opportunity of knowing his career there very well indeed. After all the woes of his administration there, was the Secretary Hon. Fredrick P. Stanton who had the quality of generous courage, which Walker wholly lacked. Stanton was Southern "to the manor born," while Walker was a transplanted Pennsylvanian, and in some respects the meanest doughface that ever flourished in the unsanatic and fetid soil of compromise. When Stanton became satisfied that Buchanan was a finisher, that the pro Southern leaders were nothing but murderous ruffians, willing to do any deed however atrocious, he fought them at once, boldly and bravely. Walker, however, took refuge in something else, and had it not been for Stanton would leave fled in confusion.

There has been a good deal of undue credit given to the actors in that episode. Governor Walker's "leadle" game was to break up the Free State party, and endeavor to create a Democratic one which would be the ally of slavery. He began to play upon every string that could bring discord, and when able to villify its history without hesitation. I remembered an amusing scene when Governor Walker was animadverting severely upon us, and Jim Lane suddenly stalked in—a veritable Banquo's ghost. Walker repeated himself, and suddenly grew oblivious of locality, speaking of Texas, where he should have said "Kansas." The truth is that Walker throughout the whole of his Kansas experience was ridden by his own reputation like one under the influence of a nightmare. Stanton had not so much to risk, and consequently made more.

To us who watched it was doubtful for quite a long time which side of the fence our governor would alight. There was no doubt he meant to do nearly right, provided that he could organize Kansas into a Democratic State. In his inability to do this he almost went over to Locomptonism. Stanton saved him there. There is one thing Walker did in the interests of his policy, and that was to bring about the dissolution of the old Free State party. The most comical incident of career was what we termed the "sedge of Lawrence." The Border Ruffians persuaded Walker that we intend to set up the Free State government we had framed, in defiance of his authority. When, therefore, Lawrence organized a volunteer municipality, inorder to water the streets, do the necessary scavengering, etc., Walker was led to believe it to be the first step in our plan of setting up forcible Topeka government. Down he came, surrounded with all the dread panoply of war—at least it would have been dread in those days and among any other people than those of Kansas. Five hundred United States soldiers under command of (then) Lieut.-Colonel Phillip St. George Cooke—horse, foot, and artillery, sat down on the elevated portion of the city, and thought thereby to frighten us out of our watering-cart, and our playing at Alderman and Council. Tents were pitched, camps arranged, guns trained on the city. A message for "this fanthermal Executive," as we boys wickedly and wittily called the Governor, was set up, and the "star spangled" flouted above it. We went on with our fun, and Walker sat there in impotent dignity and vexation, which finally resolved itself into a chronic drunk. "What a jolly set were we in those days. A dozen or more highsheeveted but still fearfully-armed journalists led the fray. Mr. Walker and his army were actually routed by our pasquinades and satires. We wrote comic songs, got up bogus proclamations in parody of the Governor's manifestoes, and all the while, filling the land and his camp, with fun, good-will and satire. We kept on with our mock city government until, in sheer despair, Colonel Sumner came to his relief by declaring that the troops were needed for operations against the Cheyennes and Kiowas, who, under old "Santanta" and "Roman Nose" did at a later day get up a vigorous campaign.

Walker got out of the muddle, we lost our fun of worrying him and the ladies of Lawrence their evening strolls to camp to hear the music and flirt with the officers. What a lot of them have since become famous or otherwise. There was Major-General—then Captain—Woods, the fiercest of all pro-slavery soldiers; Colonel Cooke, polished cavalier, half inclined to believe we were right, Long-street, Bragg young Lee, J. E. B. Stuart, then a Lieutenant; Pendleton, a Major; Musgrader, noisy and dashing as ever; while "Black Dave," as Paymaster Major David Hunter was called, came over from Fort Leavenworth to pay the troops and sympathize with us. Nor was he alone in that. Upon was our fast friend always, so was Sackett and others, and better than all the rank and file of the regular army were loyal to that issue, as they were in the grander one that grew out of it.

Ah me! It seems a century, almost, since that I have narrated occurred. What

SATURDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 4, 1869.

The War in the Mormon Church.

It is well known that the head of the Mormon hierarchy, Brigham Young, claims the right by virtue of his ecclesiastical position, to dictate absolutely to his people in temporal matters as well as in spiritual things. But the doctrine of implicit obedience to the priesthood is not accepted by the whole body of the Mormon people. The leading dissenters, however, have been excommunicated for their bold heresy,—Brigham Young thinking it proper that such irreligious audacity should be treated with summary severity. But this course has not put a stop to the schism in the church. The dissenters have an organ, the Utah Magazine, through which they now wage war against the assumptions of the priesthood, and the controversy is spreading until it threatens serious divisions in the ranks of the "Saints." The assumptions of the Mormon hierarchy are thus stated by the organ of the dissenters:

> We are expected to obey the priesthood as unquestioningly as though God Himself, in all the plenitude of his power, were personally present and made the same requirements at our hands. That is what the doctrine of "unconditional obedience" means, and that our priesthood intend to carry their claims fully to this extent, will be seen by what they already have done. Even now they claim to dictate what we shall eat and drink; where we shall buy and sell; at what we shall operate, and what we may ask for our labor; what we may read—and on all questions, as to perfect agreement with their measures, what we may think. So much for their present assumptions; and as to the future, President Young has declared that the people had to be brought to that condition that they would place all they received for their labor before the Bishops who would give them back what was deemed necessary for their support; and all who possess a true conception of the unlimited control which the priesthood expect to wield, know that even this is but the opening wedge to the exercise of a power more absolute still.

The dissenters then proceed to argue that this policy is an indefensible usurpation, that it is irreconcilable to the Mormon creed, and that it is directly contrary to the teachings of Joseph Smith. The following keen thrust is made at Brigham's pretensions to infallibility:

> Where God puts in nature so see proofs of His skill, before which man's ability is as nothing. And when it is asserted that God has directed and controlled certain financial affairs, we have also a right to look for such evidences of wisdom as shall throw the ordinary skill of men altogether into the shade. Now with all respect to the natural ability and judgment of the presiding priesthood—which we think equal to that of most men—we must say we discover no manifestation of such superior wisdom. Let the reader allow his mind to pass over the list of the many temporal enterprises which the priesthood have already controlled. From the Iron Works to the building of the New Tabernacle, and he will see that they have been followed by ruin failure, and such as might be expected from the best human judgment of ordinary men. He will be forced to the conclusion that judging by the results of such efforts, there is not the slightest ground for the belief that God has appointed the priesthood to direct such matters. Let us, then, in resigning our own judgment upon temporal matters entirely into their hands,

> The impudence of the Mormon hierarchy cannot stand long against such plain talking as this; right among those over whom the priesthood seek to maintain their supremacy. It is a health sign for the "Saints" to get to talking in this way; and it may be that the good fellow of Brigham Young in assuming such absolute control as the legate of Heaven, will result in breaking the cords of fanaticism which have hitherto bound that deluded people. This may be the beginning of an agitation that will settle the "Mormon question" without intervention from outsiders. Such questions generally settle themselves in some such way.

Retail Prices East.

Eastern journals are now almost wholly devoted to discussions of the various phases of the financial question. The subject is endless, as it involves everything which pertains to the industrial condition of the country. The Boston Advertiser in a recent article discusses the subject of retail prices in connection with the decline of gold. It shows that while retail prices always respond very quickly to an advance in gold and in the wholesale markets, they nevertheless are very tardy and sluggish in yielding to the influence of a decline. During the war the appreciating tendency of retail prices was especially marked in an advance in the cost of living, itself and the numerous articles which form the stock in trade of a provision store, with flour and the other household necessaries which are classed under the general head of groceries, are indispensible, and must be obtained at whatever cost, in order to sustain life; and such articles as these, which were always in demand, were the quickest to respond to a rise and the slowest to yield to declining influences. But though the war has long been over, though the premium on gold is low, and though provisions of all kinds are plenty even to prohibitness, the Advertiser declares that, "to the actual consumer many of the more important necessaries of life cost about as much as during the war. If the cost at wholesale had not very materially declined, there would be less reason to notice the persistence with which retail prices are kept at about the old standard, and to protest against the larger percentage of profits which now seem to be regarded as a legitimate right; but under existing circumstances this state of thing seems to be not only unnatural but extortionate."

It is not a little singular that this condition of things is maintained at the East, where wholesale prices are now declining to so low a point. It surely would not be tolerated but for the fact that when money is spent in driblets people are less careful about the prices they pay. Such facts as that which forms the subject of the Advertiser's article, shows that by far the heavier part of the losses entailed by a depreciated currency falls upon the middle and poorer classes, who form the mass of the people. Yet there is a political party which has been proposing to still further inflate the depreciated currency which has produced these results!

In General.

A correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin, writing from Marysville, furnishes some notes regarding the progress of the Oregon and California railroad. It is stated in this letter that the road will be wholly completed as far as Chico by April next. A large force is now at work there, and the managers of the enterprise say they will carry it through to the Oregon line within two years.

The system of coning and sealing packages of goods shipped from the Pacific States to the East by way of the Isthmus, has been abolished. The Collector at New York has has been instructed to enter into negotiations with the Pacific Mail Steamship Company to furnish new ware houses on each side of the Isthmus for the necessities of trade; and to provide, as far as practicable, for transporting goods across the Isthmus in locked cars, and under the inspection of agents of the revenue department.

According to the Sacramento Union, Governor Butler, of Nebraska, has announced his purpose of calling an extra session of the Legislature of that State to ratify the Fifteenth Amendment. The ratification by Alabama gave the Article twenty-two States. Nebraska will make twenty three. Five more will be required. Ohio, Iowa, Rhode Island, Minnesota, Mississippi and Texas make up the number and one to spare, against the threat of New York to withdraw the ratification made by the Legislature of that State last May. It is singular how this measure of impartial suffrage gains friends among the Democrats as they see it has become inevitable. Half a dozen of the Democratic members of the Illinois Constitutional Convention are in favor of an impartial suffrage clause, and the Quincy Herald, one of the staunchest Democratic papers in that State defends their avowed intention.

The yield of sugar in the Sandwich Islands has been prolific this year. Up to September 13 last, the sugar exported since January 1 amounted to 7,780 tons, and of molasses 731 tons, making a weekly average export of produce from the plantations of 210 tons of sugar and 20 tons of molasses, or a total average for thirty-seven weeks of 230 tons. Fifteen millions five hundred and sixty-one thousand pounds of sugar, and 200,000 gallons of molasses for the period named is no trifling business, and must be taken into account in calculating the supply needed for consumption on the west coast and in Utah. According to the Honolulu Gazette the crop of sugar for 1869 will reach 20,000,000 pounds, and that for 1869 will amount to 22,000,000 pounds. The Hawaiian Government have an emigrant agent in Yokohama, whose business it is to secure Japanese laborers for the sugar plantations, and a considerable number have been sent out, but thus far the supply is inadequate on account of unfavorable reports in Japan respecting the hardships of the service.

Chicago papers announce a recent geographical discovery which is "important if true." Professor Bell, who has been engaged in a geographical survey of the country north of Lake Superior, says that Lake Neepigon, hitherto considered too insignificant to find a place in the American atlases, is larger than Lake Ontario or Erie. He had traversed five hundred miles of its coast line when the approach of winter compelled the party to return to Canada. This lake discharges water into Lake Superior by the Neepigon river, a broad rapid stream, and is the seventh in number and possibly the second in size of the chain of great lakes which form so remarkable a feature in the geography of North America. That the existance of this inland sea should have remained unknown to this time is more remarkable, considering how near it lies to Lake Superior. As it receives its waters from a dozen considerable rivers, it is not improbable that the system of lakes, beginning with Lake Ontario, may extend many miles further to the north. This will add one more link to the great lake chain, and damage the nomenclature of Lake Superior, surpassing it also in interest in a swarm of picturesque little islands, which dot the surface of the waters.

PERSONAL.

Major Powell thinks the Colorado canon is a big gun for him in the way of an advertisement.

The London Athenæum announces, as by authority, that Mr. Dinkens is writing another story to be published in the old serial form.

The Mexican papers publish Mr. Seward's toasts at Colima and Guadalajara, which, they say, will satisfy the most jealous that he has no sinister designs on the Republic.

The Chicago Tribune says Pere Hyacinths has been a miserable failure in this country because he did not land in Chicago. "He will return to Europe," it says, a broken down "man."

Here is a "Personal" advertisement, from a Chicago paper: "Personal—(If Irving) will the gentleman who left last Sunday evening to fight a duel on the prairie, call and claim their property. If not called for within ten days, will be sold for debt."

Belle Boyd, the famous rebel spy of the war, and the lecturess and woman's rights agitator of later days, who has been for some time an inmate of the Stockton (Cal.) insane Asaylum, gave birth to a child a few days ago. With the little stranger came a restoration of the mother's reason.

At Montgomery (Ala.) dispatch of November 23d says: "Ex-Senator Benjamin Fitzpatrick died at his residence, eighteen miles from this city, yesterday, aged about seventy. His death is greatly deplored. The Legislature adjourned in respect to his memory." Fitzpatrick was nominated for Vice President on the ticket with Douglas in 1860, but he declined and the nomination was tendered Herschel V. Johnson, of Georgia.

General Cassius M. Clay, our late Minister to Russia, returned recently and announces that he has returned to private life, and altogether abandoned politics. He is going into business in New York, and thinks he has an opening in introducing some new inventions he has brought from St. Petersburg. General Clay has been abroad seven years the last time and two previously, making in all nine years since he went to Russia, and has represented the United States there.

Senator Ramsey will return to the United States without being able to accomplish the object of his special mission to France, the negotiation of a new postal treaty with that Government. Napoleon is not a friend of cheap postage, and in fact would rather bar than facilitate printed and written intercourse between France and other nations. All American papers now received in France are subject to surveillance; and this scrutiny, we are informed, has been extended to messages over the French cable, a copy of every dispatch, whether in cypher or otherwise, being lodged with the Minister of the Interior.

OREGON.

The November term of Court at Salem has closed. No one was convicted of felony during the session.

The steamer built at Gardiner, on the Umpqua river, to run in the Scottsburg and Roseburg trade, is expected soon to make her trial trip.

A. A. McCully, President of the P. T. Co., was presented on Thursday evening at Salem with a gold headed cane and gold watch by the employees of the Company. A banquet was had on the occasion and a happy time generally.

The steamer Echo, says the Statesman, of Friday, has gone up to Bromley's defeat to undertake the work of clearing the new chute, and a dispatch was received by the Secretary of the P. T. Co., this morning, to the effect that a party of citizens would be there to assist in the work of improving the river. The statement of the Herald, copied from the Guard, that the Company had refused to run their boats to Eugene any longer, unless the citizens of that place would improve the navigation at their own expense, has no foundation in fact, and is a most extraordinary stretch of a diseased fancy.

The Statesman relates the particulars of a shocking accident that occurred last week at Parkersville, at the house of William Lerwill, who is now absent in England. One of Lerwill's children, a little boy of six years of age, was playing with his brothers around a large kettle of boiling water, in which hogs were being scalded, and was pushed in, falling into the hot water nearly up to his neck. The boys got him out and led him to the house. He was so scalded that the skin peeled off his body when his clothes were removed, and he died the next morning after great suffering. It is supposed that he was pushed in by his little brother, in mischief or sport.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Nearly all the Pennsylvania counties have historical societies.

Brazil has lost 150,000 men in her four years' war with Paraguay.

Orders have been given in the royal mint in London for 20,000 medals commemorating the Abyssinian expedition.

One hundred years ago there were more than 250,000 landed proprietors in Great Britain; to-day there are less than 30,000.

The American Missionary Association has expended $148,000 in Georgia on school work alone. Out of this work has grown the Normal and Academic University of Atlanta, now in successful operation.

A young man in Forest City, Minnesota, sparking home his sweetheart from prayer meeting encountered three bears. With two clubs and four arms, they provided their respective families with much bear steak.

Discussion of the Bible question in Cincinnati has led one of the writers for the Cincinnati Commercial to examine the book. After describing it briefly he comes to the conclusion that "indeed, the Bible is a good book to read."

The word "Ecumenical" comes from two Greek words, meaning "the habitable world," and an "Ecumenical Council" ought to embrace representatives of the Church from all parts of the globe. The Pope's Council aims at that, but will not accomplish it.

A Milwaukee paper, referring to the action of Cincinnati on the Bible question, says that Milwaukee "long ago kicked the Bible out of her schools, and has progressed so far since that the teacher in the Ninth Ward School daily curses his pupils, not with a simple little 'swear,' but with enough of them to use up ten ox dashes in a single breath."

The recent seizure at New Orleans of $5,000 loaves of under-weighted bread and the fine of the 118 bakers for selling such has revived the question of the constitutionality of the city ordinance prescribing the prices of loaves of different weights. The case was settled against the bakers, however, by a decision of the Supreme Court, some years ago, upon a case in that same city.

The Fiske of Pittsburg are industriously at work getting up a corner in petroleum that shall vie in magnificence with the most renowned Wall street operations. A million dollars has been put into the pool already and the battle has commenced in earnest. Three months must elapse before the corner will be perfect, and it will require the controlling, one way or another, of some $12,000,000.

POLITICAL.

Andy Johnson still visits the Tennessee Legislature daily, watching for his chance.

A Texas paper says Hamilton Street, the Democratic candidate for Governor, "stands alone, wrapped in the mantle of the Virginia resolutions of '98." It is scant clothing in these days, even in Texas.

The 15,000 votes cast for the Labor Reform ticket in Massachusetts at the last election, are said to have been chiefly the votes of Knights of St. Crispin—the shoemakers. They elected some twenty members of the Legislature.

The New Orleans Picayune says of Jefferson Davis: "Mr. Davis will not, and cannot, under any possible circumstances, be induced to enter into the politics of the day, or accept any position in public life." Who is trying to induce him?

The vote of New York in the recent election was more than 200,000 below the vote of last year. The Republican decrease was 109,078; Democratic 99,476. Of course where the decrease is so great the result is little indication of the actual political status of the State.

Alabama, which was one of the first States to secede, has ratified the Fifteenth Amendment—Tennessee, which was loyal, refuses to do so. So the best soldiers of the old Confederate army are the most ready to adopt any measure looking to perfect reconstruction, while the men who were known in the South as "bomb-proofs" during the war, are now most stubbornly adhering to old prejudices. Rather singular, but undeniably true.

It appears that only one clause of the new Constitution for New York State was saved, and that was the Article regarding the Judiciary. It provided that the term of Supreme Court Judges should be doubled in length, making the term sixteen years, and thus approximating to a life tenure during good behavior. It also provided that in 1874, it shall be submitted to popular vote—first whether Supreme Court Judges and Judges of the Court of Appeals shall be thereafter elected or appointed; and second, whether Judges of other Courts of Record shall be elected or appointed. This is looked upon as an indication of the desire of the people of New York to do away with an elective judiciary.

THE WEST.

The remainder of the machinery for the woolen factory in Pierce county, W. T., has arrived.

A San Francisco journal advertises for sale, twelve or fifteen work horses, which have just arrived by the railroad from Ohio.

Last Saturday evening a man named Alexander Chittick fell from the balcony of the Good Templer's Hall at Steilacoom and was killed.

There has been a serio-comic lawsuit at Virginia City, Nevada. It appears that a couple of rival undertakers were each in the habit of keeping a few ready made graves ahead, and one buried a man in the other's hole, wherefor the latter sued for damages and recovered $10.

The Washington Territory Legislature has failed to pass the one hundred bills vetoed by Flanders over the vetoes. The Democrats in the House, with the exception of Mr. Brazee, voted to sustain the vetoes and to declare that in passing the bills in the first place they were great asses.

The Independent, published at Elko, Nevada, says that the town has 41 stores, 38 saloons, 26 restaurants, 13 lodging houses, six bakeries, eight blacksmith and wagon shops, and five livery stables. It was laid out on the 29th of December last, and the first lot was sold on the 12th day of January of this year. There are 1,000 buildings and upwards of 3,000 people within an area of four miles from the new Court House.

A San Francisco paper of November 26th says: About two weeks ago a firm in this city sent an order to Peoria, Illinois, for 331 plows of the style peculiar to that place. The order was received and promptly filled, a single car being run alongside at the manufactory and loaded with the implements. Yesterday the car arrived with the shipment, one of the plows being already set up and ready for use. The plows can be sent cheaper by rail than around Cape Horn, and they arrive in better condition.

On the evening of the 26th ult. the giant powder works, a few miles from San Francisco, exploded. Two white men and one Chinaman were killed. The names of the white men could not be ascertained. They were about 150 yards from the manufactory at the time, and were burned to a crisp by the intense heat created. One Chinaman was killed at a still greater distance. Ten or twelve Chinamen at their cabins, nearly a quarter of a mile away, were burned so badly that probably some of them will not recover. Five of their number were brought in one wagon to the city and were taken to a Chinese establishment on Sacramento street.

FINANCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL ITEMS.

France imported in 1868 commodities of the value of £133,942,850, and exported £116,271,600. The importations and exportations of Great Britain during the same period are more than double these figures.

There are seven new railroads in process of construction in Georgia alone. One from Macon to Brunswick, one hundred and eighty miles long, has been nearly all built since the war, and will soon be in running order. Work has been commenced on the Atlanta and Charlotte Railroad, and one section is nearly finished. Another road is being built from Brunswick to Albany, one hundred and seventy-five miles in length.

The San Francisco Commercial Herald of November 26th says: The first shipment of teas, in bond, by Pacific Railroad, will go forward today. It consists of 612 packages received per steamer Japan. This prompt shipment is due to the alacrity of Customs officers, who have assisted Colonel Johnston, the General Railroad Agent, in getting it off without delay. Hereafter all teas for Eastern markets will be shipped in bond by railroad, contracts for that purpose having been made with the railroads.

A San Francisco paper says: It is with unfeigned gratification that we notice the action just taken by the North Pacific Steamship Transportation Company, in placing an additional steamer on the coast route and lowering freight charges. This speaks well for the Company, and will do much toward building up a large trade between this city and our southern counties. Additional facilities, at reasonable rates, have never yet failed to pay, but have been the causes of very unexpected increase in material wealth to the regions possessing them.

Brazil is the greatest producer of coffee. That known in the trade as Rio, is a Brazilian coffee. Of the 714,000,000 lbs produced to the world per annum, Brazil furnishes 400,000,000, or more than half of the whole, Java 110,000,000, Ceylon 20,000,000, St. Domingo 40,000,000, Cuba and Porto Rico 25,000,000, Venezuela 25,000,000, Sumatra 25,000,000, including the Mocha, 18,000,000. The United States is the greatest consumer. We use in the United States nearly one third of all the coffee consumed in the world, using nearly seven times as much as Great Britain, with a population not very far from the same. Germany comes next.

... Herald.—Hereafter the boats of the O. & N. ... will start from this city for Montevista at 8 o'clock instead of 7, as heretofore.

HELD TO KEEP THE PEACE.—John Dougherty who has been a good part of the time in jail for the last year for want of bail to keep the peace, was sent back yesterday in default of $500 bail.

SOIREE.—The regular semi-monthly soiree under the auspices of the Washington Guard will take place at their Armory this evening.

CHRISTMAS EVE BALL.—Prof. Cardinell announces a grand Christmas Eve Ball at the Washington Guard's Armory.

SAFE HOME.—Billes and his dog arrived safely home from Salem yesterday. They are both well.

There is no evening service in the Unitarian Church to-morrow.

The Nobby Hat, and the Don Carlos Hat are still the rage. They arrived per steamer Montana, and are for sale at Meussdorffer's.

Congress meets the first Monday in December, when the President's annual message will be read, which will make some good suggestions and bring to light some startling facts, but none so truthful as the fact that KOHN & FISHEL are selling the handsomest, most stylish and durable Clothing and Furnishing Goods for less money than any other house in Oregon.

Their Stock of Dry Goods is offered at cost to close that line of Trade.

EFFECT OF MUSIC ON ANIMALS.—That music has a charm on the animal creation has long been known. The sense of hearing in many animals is very acute. They love to hear gentle voices, and are grateful for kind words. The tiny mouse is charmed by the whistle of the Alpine herdsman, will abide in his hut, and come from its covert to listen to his song. In ancient times the grazing herds were charmed in listening to the flute of the shepherd. The bell-cow is proud of her bell, and shows it in her gait, as she leads off the herd, and shows grief when it is taken from her, and cattle have been known to pine away and die when deprived of their harmonious ornament. The horse is particularly charmed with music, for

"At the shrill trumpet's sound he pricks his ear."

Many will remember the account of the Libyan mares who would only be handled when soothed with soft music, and of the horses of the Sybarites, that had been taught to dance by pleasing melodies and then, when hearing their masters into battle, suddenly heard in the enemy's ranks, the well remembered sounds, and instantly set to dancing instead of fighting! The same love of music in the horse has been noted in more modern times. The eccentric Lord Holland, of the reign of William III., used to give his horses a weekly concert in a covered gallery especially erected for the purpose. He maintained that it cheered their temper, and an eye witness says they seemed to be greatly delighted therewith.

Music is appreciated by the elephant in a remarkable degree. Sweet, gentle strains delight him, while loud, harsh notes rouse his passions to uncontrollable fury. The Arab entertains his camel with music, song and fairy tale, and with the plaintive tones of his voice. Birds are the true musicians of the animal kingdom. They have what many men lack, a genuine talent to learn and appreciate musical notes and melodies. You sing, and they will repeat, bar after bar; others listen with eager attention, to a hand organ and, little by little, learn whole tunes; the adept of all even imitate the songs and voices of others.

The Suez canal is more than a hundred miles long, with an average width exceeding three hundred feet, and a minimum depth of twenty-six feet below the mean level of the sea. It extends from Port Said, on the Mediterranean, to Suez, on the Red Sea, and passes through an absolute desert, totally devoid of vegetation, where fresh water is only obtained by means of a canal from the Nile. This is the only ship canal yet constructed without locks or gates, and it is the largest and deepest artificial water way that has ever been made. The saving in distance between our ports and East Indies by this new route is S,200 miles at least, and over 4,000 miles upon the usual sailing courses. It is not clear, however, that our ships will avail themselves of it, for although the saving in time for outward bound vessels will be in proportion to the distance saved, for homeward-bound vessels the route through the canal will consume more time than round the Cape. Then the difficulty of navigating the Red Sea, and the tolls imposed on ships passing through the Canal will operate to prevent its becoming the regular route for our ships going to the East Indies.

In Missouri the disadvantage of not having small change is strikingly illustrated. They shoot a man there who can't give stamps for a five dollar bill.

Use KANE'S IMPERIAL CONDENSED SOAP. It washes without rubbing. For sale by Allen & Lewis, Corbitt & McClay, R. G. Sneath and all retailers.

The subjoined correspondence sufficiently explains itself:

PORTLAND, OREGON, Nov. 15, 1869.

MESSRS. EVERETT & HAINES, General Agents New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, Boston:

Gentlemen:—On my own behalf and in the name of my orphan children, I beg to thank you, and through you the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston, for its munificence in paying me my terminated policy on the life of my husband. On the 31st January, 1869, circumstances compelled me to forego the payment of the last premium, which non-payment in any other company would have lost me my policy—but I am now overjoyed with the receipt of the amount of the policy (less the amount of the unpaid premium only), thanks to the equity of the Massachusetts Laws, that must bless many widows and their children. I recommend the New England Mutual to all who would provide against future misfortune. Sincerely thank you again, gentlemen, for the payment, and also for your generous and gentlemanly manner in the matter.

Respectfully, BETSEY MILLER.

PORTLAND, OREGON, Nov. 15, 1869.

MESSRS. EVERETT & HAINES, General Agents of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston:

Gentlemen—Having taken a lively interest in the affairs of the large and destitute family, left by an old resident of this city, who died Aug. 3, 1869, and who was insured in the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, we take pleasure in making the following statement for the information of the public:

A. B. C. Sellon was insured by ordinary Life Policy No. 19,654, bearing date January 21, 1863. He paid annual payments up to January 21, 1868, inclusive. Since then nothing has been paid. He died August 3, 1869, over eighteen months after last payment of premium, yet your company working under the Equitable Legal Laws of Massachusetts, pays the widow and orphans the whole policy, deducting only the premium due; while (in all other companies doing business here, about which we know anything, the policy would long since have been forfeited.

By the New England Mutual, the widow has been paid $4,650 50. This we consider munificent, more especially when we take into consideration that the family would not have received a cent from any other company doing business on this coast. This in our estimation is strength to our agency and this company above all others. This is Equity, this is Mutuality. We, therefore, commend this company to the public, as the only company that has no forfeitures.

We herewith inclose you the acknowledgments of the widow. Respectfully yours, etc.

Please accept our thanks for the voluntary justice you have done the company we represent.

Yours Very Truly,

What is a Tonic!

Bear this in mind,—that although a tonic is to a certain extent, a stimulant,—a stimulant unmodified by any medicinal substance, is not a tonic, but a DEBILITANT. In HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS there is a stimulating element of the purest grade manufactured in this or any other country. Every fiery and corrosive oil or acid which contaminates the ordinary liquors of commerce, is expelled from the rye spirit which forms the alcoholic basis of the BITTERS, by careful and repeated rectification. The juices of the valuable roots, barks and herbs, infused into this wholesome product of the finest grain, still further modify its nature; so that it becomes, in fact, a simple diffusive agent, unless all the heady and brain exciting properties which belong more or less, to all liquors in a raw state. It is merely the safe and harmless vehicle which renders the medicinal virtues of the preparation effective,—increasing their active power and diffusing them through the system. Hence the pleasant and gentle glow which is experienced after taking a dose of the BITTERS. Instead of creating headache, as unmedicated stimulants are apt to do, this salubrious tonic is the best known remedy for that complaint. It calms and soothes cerebral excitement, strengthens the nerves, promotes the secretion of the gastric juice, invigorates the bowels, determines the fluids to the surface, improves the appetite, increases the animal vigor, regulates organic action, and from its mild yet effective alterative qualities, is the very best preparation that can be administered to the weaker sex in the peculiar difficulties to which their organization subjects them.

THE PEOPLE SAY

That PRATT'S ABSORBINE OIL is the best remedy in the world for the complete and speedy cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lame Back, Gout, Chilblains, Sprains, Bruises, Stiff and Swollen Joints, Contracted Cords and Muscles, Pains in the Breast and Sides, Nervous Headache, Toothache, Earache, Sore Throat, Colic, Cramps, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa, and all internal and external aches and pains. Put up in two sizes—Price 50 cents and $1 00. Circulars with full directions around the bottles. For sale by all druggists.

THE BLOOD AND LIVER.

Life and health depend on their condition. BRANT'S New Life purifies the blood, heals old sores, expels from the system all scrofulous humors, cutaneous eruption and impure matter. It stimulates the Liver and Kidneys to healthy action, regulates the Bowels, cures Piles and Dyspepsia. Persons subject to Bilious attacks and those suffering from the effects of Fever and Ague, or any injudicious use of Quinine and Mercury will find PRATT'S New Life invaluable. Price $1 00.

WILLAMETTE EXCHANGE,

Curious Relics of 1777

THE RAISING OF A REVOLUTIONARY MAN-OF-WAR FROM THE BED OF THE DELAWARE RIVER — DESCRIPTION OF THE RELICS FOUND — MEMORIALS OF THE OLD COLONIAL PERIOD.

[From the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, Nov. 12.]

Mr George W. Murphy and others recently uncovered the edge of raising the hull of the British 64 gun ship Augusta, sunk in the Delaware River, about a mile and a half below Fort Mifflin. The ship was one of His Royal Highness, King George's fleet, and was blown up, the concussion driving one of her sides out. This occurred in the year 1777, and since that time the waters of the Delaware have had full sweep at forcing the mud and sand into and through the shattered hull. Very many have been the difficulties encountered by the brave men who battled with the elements to bring the old craft to the surface. They had depended entirely upon their own resources, and have expended about $5,000, without counting their labor. Canal boats, barges, scows, and divers, have long been in use, and all difficulties have been surmounted. Yesterday the party, who now consists of Messrs. Murphy, James, Powell, Moore, Shipley, and Myers, succeeded in floating the hull, and getting it to Gloucester. An intense excitement was created along the river and among the Jersey folks, who were anxious to see the vessel they had read and heard so much about.

It is the intention of those who raised the craft to place canvass about her, and charge the moderate sum of twenty-five cents to those who desire to inspect her. Mr. Murphy kindly showed us last evening some of the relics he has recovered from time to time. Among them were a silver spoon, very heavy, bearing the maker's mark, and a crest conspicuously engraved upon the end. Near the bowl is engraved "H. W., 1748."

Upon a piece of metal, about four inches long and an inch wide, is very plainly engraved the Lord's Prayer, appended to which is the name "David Pyott, 1774." On the reverse side are engraved various designs.

A wonderful-looking silver watch, small in size, and almost round in shape, is another rare curiosity.

Yesterday the divers brought up a number of British guineas, of the date of 1765, and they are very perfect, and now they are no longer in circulation in Great Britain, are, of course, very valuable.

These were all the curiosities we had time to inspect, but Mr. Murphy is convinced that there is on board the vessel many others. Two heavy cannon have been recovered, bearing the British coat of arms; and it is estimated that at least one hundred tons of kentledge is in the hull. This kentledge is composed of flat pieces of iron about two feet long, and used for ballast. Each piece bears the royal stamp of the King, the letter R. It is supposed that there are at least one hundred tons of shot on board the vessel. Bottle ovens, cutlasses, guns, pistols, and all of the paraphernalia of a man-of-war are visible, and much of it will be saved. The timbers of the ship are in an elegant state of preservation, and a novel feature of her construction is that she was put together by trunnels, no bolts being used.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

PORTLAND, Dec. 3, 1869.

Gold was quoted at New York on the 24 inst. at 128¾@ 128¾, a figure lower than it has ever reached since it passed that figure going up in 1868. This very considerable decline, attributed in part to the satisfactory condition of national finances and the rapidly growing confidence in Secretary Boutwell's policy, demonstrates that for many months, if not years, the price of gold has been speculative rather than representing its real comparative value, the bulls taking advantage of the false policy of President Johnson's Secretary to put money in their own coffers at the expense of both Government and people. The steady declining tendency of gold and the accompanying appreciation of currency, give hope that this tampering of specie payments is not nearly so easy an impossibility as has been almost universally believed. At all events as currency more closely approaches par value, it becomes of less and less moment whether specie payments be resumed or not. The rate for gold backs in this market today is 81@81¼; San Francisco, 80½@81. The monthly collection day occurred on Tuesday last. We find that, except in the case of a few lines of retail trade, bills were more generally paid than usual, showing that money is a little easier in the city. Family grocers and provision dealers more generally complain of bad collections than any other class of dealers. Wholesale bills have been smaller and therefore more easily collected. Altogether, the money market, although not wholly relieved of stringency, is in a hopeful condition. Loans maintain the usual rates: First class borrowers find no difficulty in getting accommodations at the banks at 1 per cent. for 30 to 90 days. Outside rates are 1½@2 per cent. The circulation, as heretofore, is silver in excessive proportion to gold and paper. The Commercial Herald of San Francisco says: "The Mint is actively engaged, and will probably furnish about $2,000,000 to the market during the current month (November.) The removal of the Mexican export duties on treasure has already exercised in a remittance of 70 tons of silver from that country, and is likely to bring in large additions. Bullion has been in fair supply during the week, and as our exports of treasure have been small, there is reason to believe that the money market will experience increased relief. * * We find no cause to retract the opinion expressed in our last issue relative to the alleged scarcity of money. The lack of confidence, rather than lack of means, was, in our opinion, the leading feature of our late shortage. It is gratifying to know that this is gradually disappearing. Gold bars range from 866 to 870, and silver bars sell at par. Currency bills on Atlantic cities pay a premium on gold of 2½ per cent; sight drafts, payable in coin, are offered at 1@1½ per cent. premium; telegraphic transfers, 1½@2¼ per cent. premium; sterling exchange, 48¾d; commercial exchange 49¼d; Mexican dollars command 5 per cent. premium; legal tenders, 73½ @74."

The produce market is decouragingly quiet. The receipts from the interior, though considerable, are not sufficient to kindly load the vessels visiting our port, and masters find obstacles almost remaining in the trade. The Wild Rose left yesterday with about 850 tons of grain and flour — as of the other vessels sailing from here during the past month have been compelled to take only partial loads for want of freight, making out balances of load with lumber from the Columbia river mills. There is hope that this condition of things will be soon improved and that all of the vessels will be able to fill up without the delays which have proven so vexatious and ruinous during the past season, there being no reasons for these delays. Jute operations show that wheat is a little lower, barley, flour, and lard ditto. No other material changes.

In the wholesale merchandise market we find little of importance to note beyond a fair trade considering the advanced season of the year. During the week fair orders have been filled for points on the upper Columbia, and the steamers for the upper Willamet go with about their usual freights. Prices generally steady at former quotations.

Retail business for the week has been quiet. Dealers have on hand very full stocks and wide assortments.

New York wheat and flour market unchanged.

Liverpool wheat market, 9s 6d.

San Francisco market — marked very firm for superfine grades — quotations $4 12½@4 37½. Extra in quality, $5 25@5 50. Wheat, $1 80@1 85 for choice. Oats range of market, $1 10@1 50.

The steamer Ajax will sail for Portland next Tuesday. The barks Monarch and Live Yankee, both of which have been a long time up for this port, will sail in a few days.

The Commercial Herald of the 24th quotes hams and lard plenty and cheaper; bacon scarce and high. Chicago smoked meats are found in all first class establishments and command ready prices. The market continues well supplied with fruits. The receipts from Oregon from Jan. 1st to Nov. 26th, were, flour, pkgs 470,368; oats, sks 35,830; barley, sks 240; salmon, bbls 1,837; do pkgs 2,356; do 19,570, pkgs 2,074; bacon, pkgs 4,584; beef, bbls, 468; butter, pkgs 870; cheese, pkgs 12; hams, pkgs 446; lard, pkgs 1,880; pork, bbls 1,433; dried apples, pkgs 4,892; pig iron, tons 835.

Since the 1st of July, 1869, the total exports of wheat from San Francisco aggregate 2,993,849 centals, of the value of $5,430,356.

The export demand for flour to China and elsewhere is continued. Shipments to China are mostly of superfine, but to South and Central America, Peru and Brazil, consist mainly of extras. Recently, we observe a shipment of 8,000 bbls to Montevideo.

The Rhan Allen brings news from Honolulu to Nov. 24. Commercial news meagre. Among the arrivals out, the Alaska from Portland, Byrnstan from Victoria, Herman from Puget Sound, and Windermere from Burrard Inlet; the last named en route for China, having only touched to land an injured seaman. The Alaska and Herman were to return to their respective ports; the Byrnstan was offered for sale. Whalers had begun to arrive and the news from the fleet was encouraging. The ship arriving within the week previous brought an aggregate of 8,500 bbls oil, and 1231,000 lbs whalebone
